VISITORS GUIDE

"WE ART PUTNAM COUNTY" – INDIANA'S LARGEST MURAL

PUTNAM CO, INDIANA PUTNAM CO, INDIANA PUT

HILLTOP ORCHIDS

With more land in protected nature preserves than any other in Indiana, Putnam County is ideal for hikers, bikers, horseback riders, star gazers, and plant lovers. Enjoy one of the largest orchid growers in the Midwest, the largest equestrian arena in the state, Indiana's largest maple syrup producer, and Indiana's largest mural.

Forty 19th century covered bridges dot the countryside and scores of restaurants offer expansive and unique local food and drink. In Greencastle, some are nestled along tree-lined streets with awesome boutique shopping, handmade candies and ice cream, all walkable to DePauw University, with its Peeler Arts Center, Green Performing Arts Center and an incredible, wooded campus dating to the 1830s.

EIGHT HISTORIC ARCHITECTURE DISTRICTS

PUTNAM CO, INDIANA PUTNAM CO, INDIANA PUT

Music is everywhere, from the Roachdale Rib & Blues Fest to Music on the Square, to the Greencastle Summer Music Festival, plus two different weekly series all summer, a summer music festival, and bands in pubs and eateries year-round.

The historic architecture is remarkable. Eight historic districts highlight it, and People Pathways walks you through it. Great B&Bs, smart and funny innkeepers, second-story lofts, inviting campgrounds, and family-friendly hotels abound.

Put yourself in Putnam County, and put it all behind you.

NEW MOON DIVINATION

FOOD & DRINK FOOD & DRINK FOOD & DRINK FOOD

“Farm to fork” meant something here before the phrase was cool. More than 70 restaurants offer food and drink for every taste. The Ullem Campus Farm provides fresh produce to local restaurants, and local farmers supply eggs, pork, beef, maple syrup, strawberries, apples, and everything that makes a meal healthy and memorable.

“Family” is the important word in The Putnam Inn Family Restaurant. Managed by the third generation of the family that started it, its four enormous food bars make it as popular for breakfast as it is for lunch and dinner. Almost Home Restaurant has been owned and managed by the same chef for more than 30 years. Lou’s Diner is so busy with locals it’s hard to get a seat for any meal, and it’s strange that Bert & Betty’s Kitchen is known for pie when so few have room for dessert.

With a food scene that rivals any college town, Greencastle is home to TapHouse Burgers, with regional beers on tap and great food on the table. Moore’s Bar and Grill has the best breaded tenderloin you’ll ever eat, and Myers’ Market offers hand-sliced local meats and sandwiches. Bridges Craft Pizza and Wine Bar sports a wood-fired oven from Italy and rooftop dining with a view of the county. 2 West Bistro is known for steaks, its outdoor patio, multiple music series, and its Fluttering Duck bar. Mexican and Italian fare, family dining, garlic cheeseburgers, an exceptional bakery, and much more might cause you to stay another day or two just for the food. # FUN & SUN FUN & SUN FUN & SUN FUN & SUN FUN & SUN FUN & SUN FUN & SUN FUN & SUN FUN & SUN FUN & SUN FUN

Wide walking paths, biking paths, old-growth woods, ravines, creeks, and animals & plants of all kinds occupy a large portion of our topography that begins where Ice Age glaciers melted.

Indiana's hills, fun and memorable outdoor experiences start here.

Hobbit Gardens celebrates the solstices and equinoxes and offers workshops on growing, harvesting, using herbs, organics, weeds, edible landscape, plant medicine, and more.

The 500-acre DePauw Nature Park was the site of a limestone quarry. Bird watchers use it extensively, and its Prindle Institute for Ethics and Bartlett Reflection Center provide beautiful, quiet places to enjoy the environment. The Manning Environmental Field Station and Rolland Welcome and Activities Center offer educational programs that make this not just another walk in the park.

Fortune Woods, part of the Big Walnut Nature Preserve, features a two-mile trail fittingly called Tall Timbers. Hikers pass through old-growth stands of towering hardwoods, but the name overlooks one of the dog-friendly trail's most attractive features—a wealth of wildflowers along the Big Walnut Creek floodplain in spring.

Fern Cliff Nature Preserve, a registered National Natural Landmark, contains a mesic upland forest dominated by oak, beech, hickory, sugar maple, ash, wild cherry, tulip, and other trees. Sandstone ravines and cliffs support ferns, liverworts and mosses. Its abandoned sandstone quarry was the source of the greenish glass that made the first Coca Cola bottles so remarkable.

Cataract Falls is Indiana's largest waterfall by volume. Part of the Lieber State Recreation Area, it features two sets of waterfalls on Mill Creek, both consisting of a series of drops. The Upper Falls is 45' high, and the Lower Falls about 30'.

Locals call it Chandler's Orchard. More than 200 varieties of apples, cider, homemade doughnuts, and apple butter add to the raspberries, peaches, tomatoes, corn, honey, and beans, fall hayrides, straw mazes, bonfires, and the pumpkin patch.

Like your nature indoors? Dick Wells has been growing orchids since 1954, many nationally recognized and awarded for their high quality. His greenhouses bloom with Phalaenopsis, Cattleyas, Oncidiums, and Lady Slippers, and he and Sandy provide individual attention and an unparalleled selection of plants.

People Pathways is a nearly 18-mile linear park, with a hiking/biking trail meandering through this county that also is part of the Rural Routes to Main Street Cultural Trail. This three-county regional partnership highlights nearly 50 historic covered bridges dotting the countryside, potters, weavers, woodworkers, art and craft festivals, breweries, wineries, candy makers, beekeepers, garden and flower shops, and all the natural wonders of West Central Indiana.

Put this on your schedule!

Big Walnut Nature Preserve / Fortune Woods

East County Road 950 North
Bainbridge, IN 46105
765.653.8743

Tall Timbers, the two-mile looping trail through this National Natural Landmark, offers flat, wide paths to Big Walnut Creek, scenic ravines and old-growth beech, maple and oak. Wet feet are a possibility before staircases rise out of the valley. Expect abundant wildflowers in spring and, in summer, the chick-burr of scarlet tanagers. The Nature Conservancy maintains thousands of acres and has planted tens of thousands of trees in this preserve.

C Bar C Expo Center

CBarCExpo.com
765.795.4768

C Bar C Expo Center is Indiana's largest indoor equestrian facility, offering horse and livestock shows 48 weekends each year, a horse motel for travelers, with 500 10-by-10-foot box stalls, shavings, riding trails, and camping. Located just south of I-70, it is home to some of the most exciting and interesting equestrian events in the U.S., nearly all with no admission charge.

Camp Friend

4690 South County Road 325 West,
Greencastle, IN 46135
CampFriend.org

A wooded, 62-acre primitive campground among farmland south of Greencastle, Camp Friend is open year-round, offering trails, a playground and basketball court. It's ideal for larger groups wanting an outdoor venue with bird-watching, star-gazing and lots of amenities of interest to active young people.

Chandler's Farm & Country Market

ChandlersFarmMarket.com
317.539.6255

Open April 1 - December 22, this family-operated farm in Fillmore has nearly 200 varieties of apples, giving guests a wide and diverse selection. The Country Market offers apple slushies and local foods. In the fall, the farm features a pumpkin patch, horse-drawn hayrides, bonfires, and more for kids of all ages.

DePauw Nature Park

DePauw.edu / 765.658.1076

The layers of animal remains are observable in the walls of rock that began forming 350 million years ago in this 500-acre park that was an active limestone quarry. Included are outdoor classrooms, miles of trails, an amphitheater, and the Prindle Institute for Ethics. It and its Reflection Center host insightful programming year-round.

Fern Cliff Nature Preserve

West County Road 375 South
Greencastle, IN 46135
317.232.4200

Lush ravines fill this 157-acre preserve, designated a National Natural Landmark. Owned by The Nature Conservancy, it contains a mesic upland forest with an understory of dogwood, hydrangea, pawpaw, and greenbriar. A botanist's floral paradise, particularly interesting is an abandoned sandstone quarry in the northern part of the preserve that is slowly filling with sphagnum moss.

PORTLAND MILLS

Glenn Flint Lake

LittleWalnutDistrict.IN.gov
765.739.6722

The 379-acre Glenn Flint Lake is home to game fish, particularly spunky panfish, channel catfish, largemouth bass, bluegill, and white crappie. The Indiana Department of Natural Resources Division of Fish and Wildlife manages the fishery at Glenn Flint, noting that “Bluegill fishermen do well in the spring, and the fall bite can be good, too.”

Hall Woods Nature Preserve

3301-3727 East County Road
675 North
812.200.4040

Hall Woods is a State Nature Preserve. A microcosm of the Big Walnut Natural Area, of which it is a part, it includes a loop trail through a mature wood known for wildflowers, ferns and songbirds, and offers access to Big Walnut Creek, one of the highest-quality streams in the state.

Harris Sugar Bush

HarrisSugarBush.com/765.653.5108

One of Indiana’s largest maple syrup producers, Harris Sugar Bush is open every day in syrup season – the last week of January through the first week of March. Tours year-round by appointment. Its log cabin store offers local foods, pancake and waffle mixes, maple cream and candy, and of course syrup from the sap of the farm’s hard maple trees.

Hilltop Orchids

HilltopOrchids.com / 765.795.6016

Growing award-winning orchids since 1954, Hilltop Orchids helps guests gain the knowledge and confidence to grow these beautiful plants, most from their own breeding program inside four greenhouses with almost 10,000 s.f. of growing space. Growing supplies are also available, including custom potting soil and fertilizer.

Hobbit Gardens Erth Gatherings Center

HobbitGardens.blogspot.com
765.246.6315

Hobbit Gardens operates on seasonal hours and organically and sustainably grows herbs, perennials and vegetable plants to create produce for its shop. Its Erth Gatherings Center hosts symposia, apprentice programs, ecological celebrations, and workshops on growing, harvesting, using herbs, organics, weeds, edible landscape, plant medicine, and more.

Jaycee Park

CityOfGreencastle.com

HARRIS SUGAR BUSH

Putnam Parks & Pathways

People Pathways, for walkers, joggers and cyclists, is part of the National Road Heritage Trail, revealing the unique beauty of Putnam County through a network of 17-plus miles of dedicated and shared routes in and around Greencastle. With a goal of developing connections within and between communities, highlights include the Greencastle to Fillmore Trail, the Sports Park link from the east side of Greencastle to Big Walnut Sports Park, a loop trail at Big Walnut Sports Park, and the Putnam Nature Trail.

PutnamParks.org / 765.653.8743

Music makes this place hum year-round. ParkFest, for more than 25 years, attracts music lovers to free concerts in Robe-Ann Park. Roachdale's annual Rib & Blues Fest is a fall tradition blending great food and sound.

Eateries on Greencastle's tree-lined Courthouse Square have permanent stages. The permanent Courthouse stage is across from the performance/practice venue Music on the Square, opened by famed cellist Yo-Yo Ma, who performs regularly at DePauw University . . . which hosts the Summer Music Festival series of free concerts.

The Fret Set, an eclectic mix, gathers Thursdays outside The Fluttering Duck, inside the Inn at DePauw . . . which hosts Jazz at

The Duck, in winter, and "Acoustic Sunsets," a summer series, on its outdoor patio.

Crown Street Music Festival, extensive year-round programming at DePauw's Green Center for the Performing Arts and the Putnam County Playhouse add theatre to the county's music scene. The stunning Peeler Art Center exhibits new and classic work by the country's most thought-provoking artists. The Putnam County Museum is a trove of rotating exhibits highlighting what makes this region so remarkable. First Fridays bring thousands together to enjoy up-and-coming musicians, foods, arts, authors, storytelling, kids games, and the culture that defines the uniqueness of Putnam County.

The musical year crescendos at Greencastle Music Fest in August, a weekend of live music, outdoors on multiple stages. The beat goes on almost daily, year-round.

DEPAUW UNIVERSITY CAMPUS

Put on your “thinking cap!”

Greencastle is the quintessential college town because DePauw University has made it so since 1837. A liberal arts and sciences institution dedicated to creating leaders, its beautiful campus, two blocks south of downtown Greencastle, is in the heart of Putnam County, creating a “communiversity” among students and residents.

DePauw’s coeducational undergraduate enrollment of 1,750 students hail from 38 states and 35 countries. Roughly 20% of each class are first-generation college students. Domestic students of color make up 21% of the student body and international students make up 15%. More than three-quarters of classes have fewer than 20 students; the 8-to-1 student-faculty ratio ensures students receive personal attention from their 222 full-time and 33 part-time instructors.

DePauw is 100% residential; students live in campus residence halls and apartments and Greek chapter housing. The campus, listed by Conde Nast Traveler magazine as one of the 50 most beautiful in America, features the iconic East College and includes the 520-acre DePauw Nature Park and the Ullem Campus Farm and Center for Sustainability, where students grow food for use in campus dining facilities and local restaurants.

EAST COLLEGE LAWN

The community mingles at Eli’s Books, DePauw’s student bookstore located on the Courthouse Square. With an attached Starbucks coffee house, it’s popular with students, residents and visitors. Music on the Square, a performing arts center that’s also on the Courthouse Square, hosts adult and student learners who share the space with music makers, instructors and performers. DePauw also invites the community to numerous musical and theatre performances and events featuring guest speakers from around the globe.

Put the pedal to the metal!

KRAMBO'S MOTORCYCLE SERVICE & PAINTING

While all roads lead to Putnam County, some are just for auto and bike aficionados.

Putnam Park Road Course is a 1.78 mile, 10-turn haven open year-round for club events, professional team testing and auto and motorcycle enthusiasts. The perfect track, with challenging corners, smooth surface, and ample runoff room, plan a visit with your car or motorcycle club. The circuit can be configured 15 different ways, making it perfect for suspension testing or simulating a street-circuit. The Short Course, at .528 miles and only four turns, is perfect for pit-stop testing.

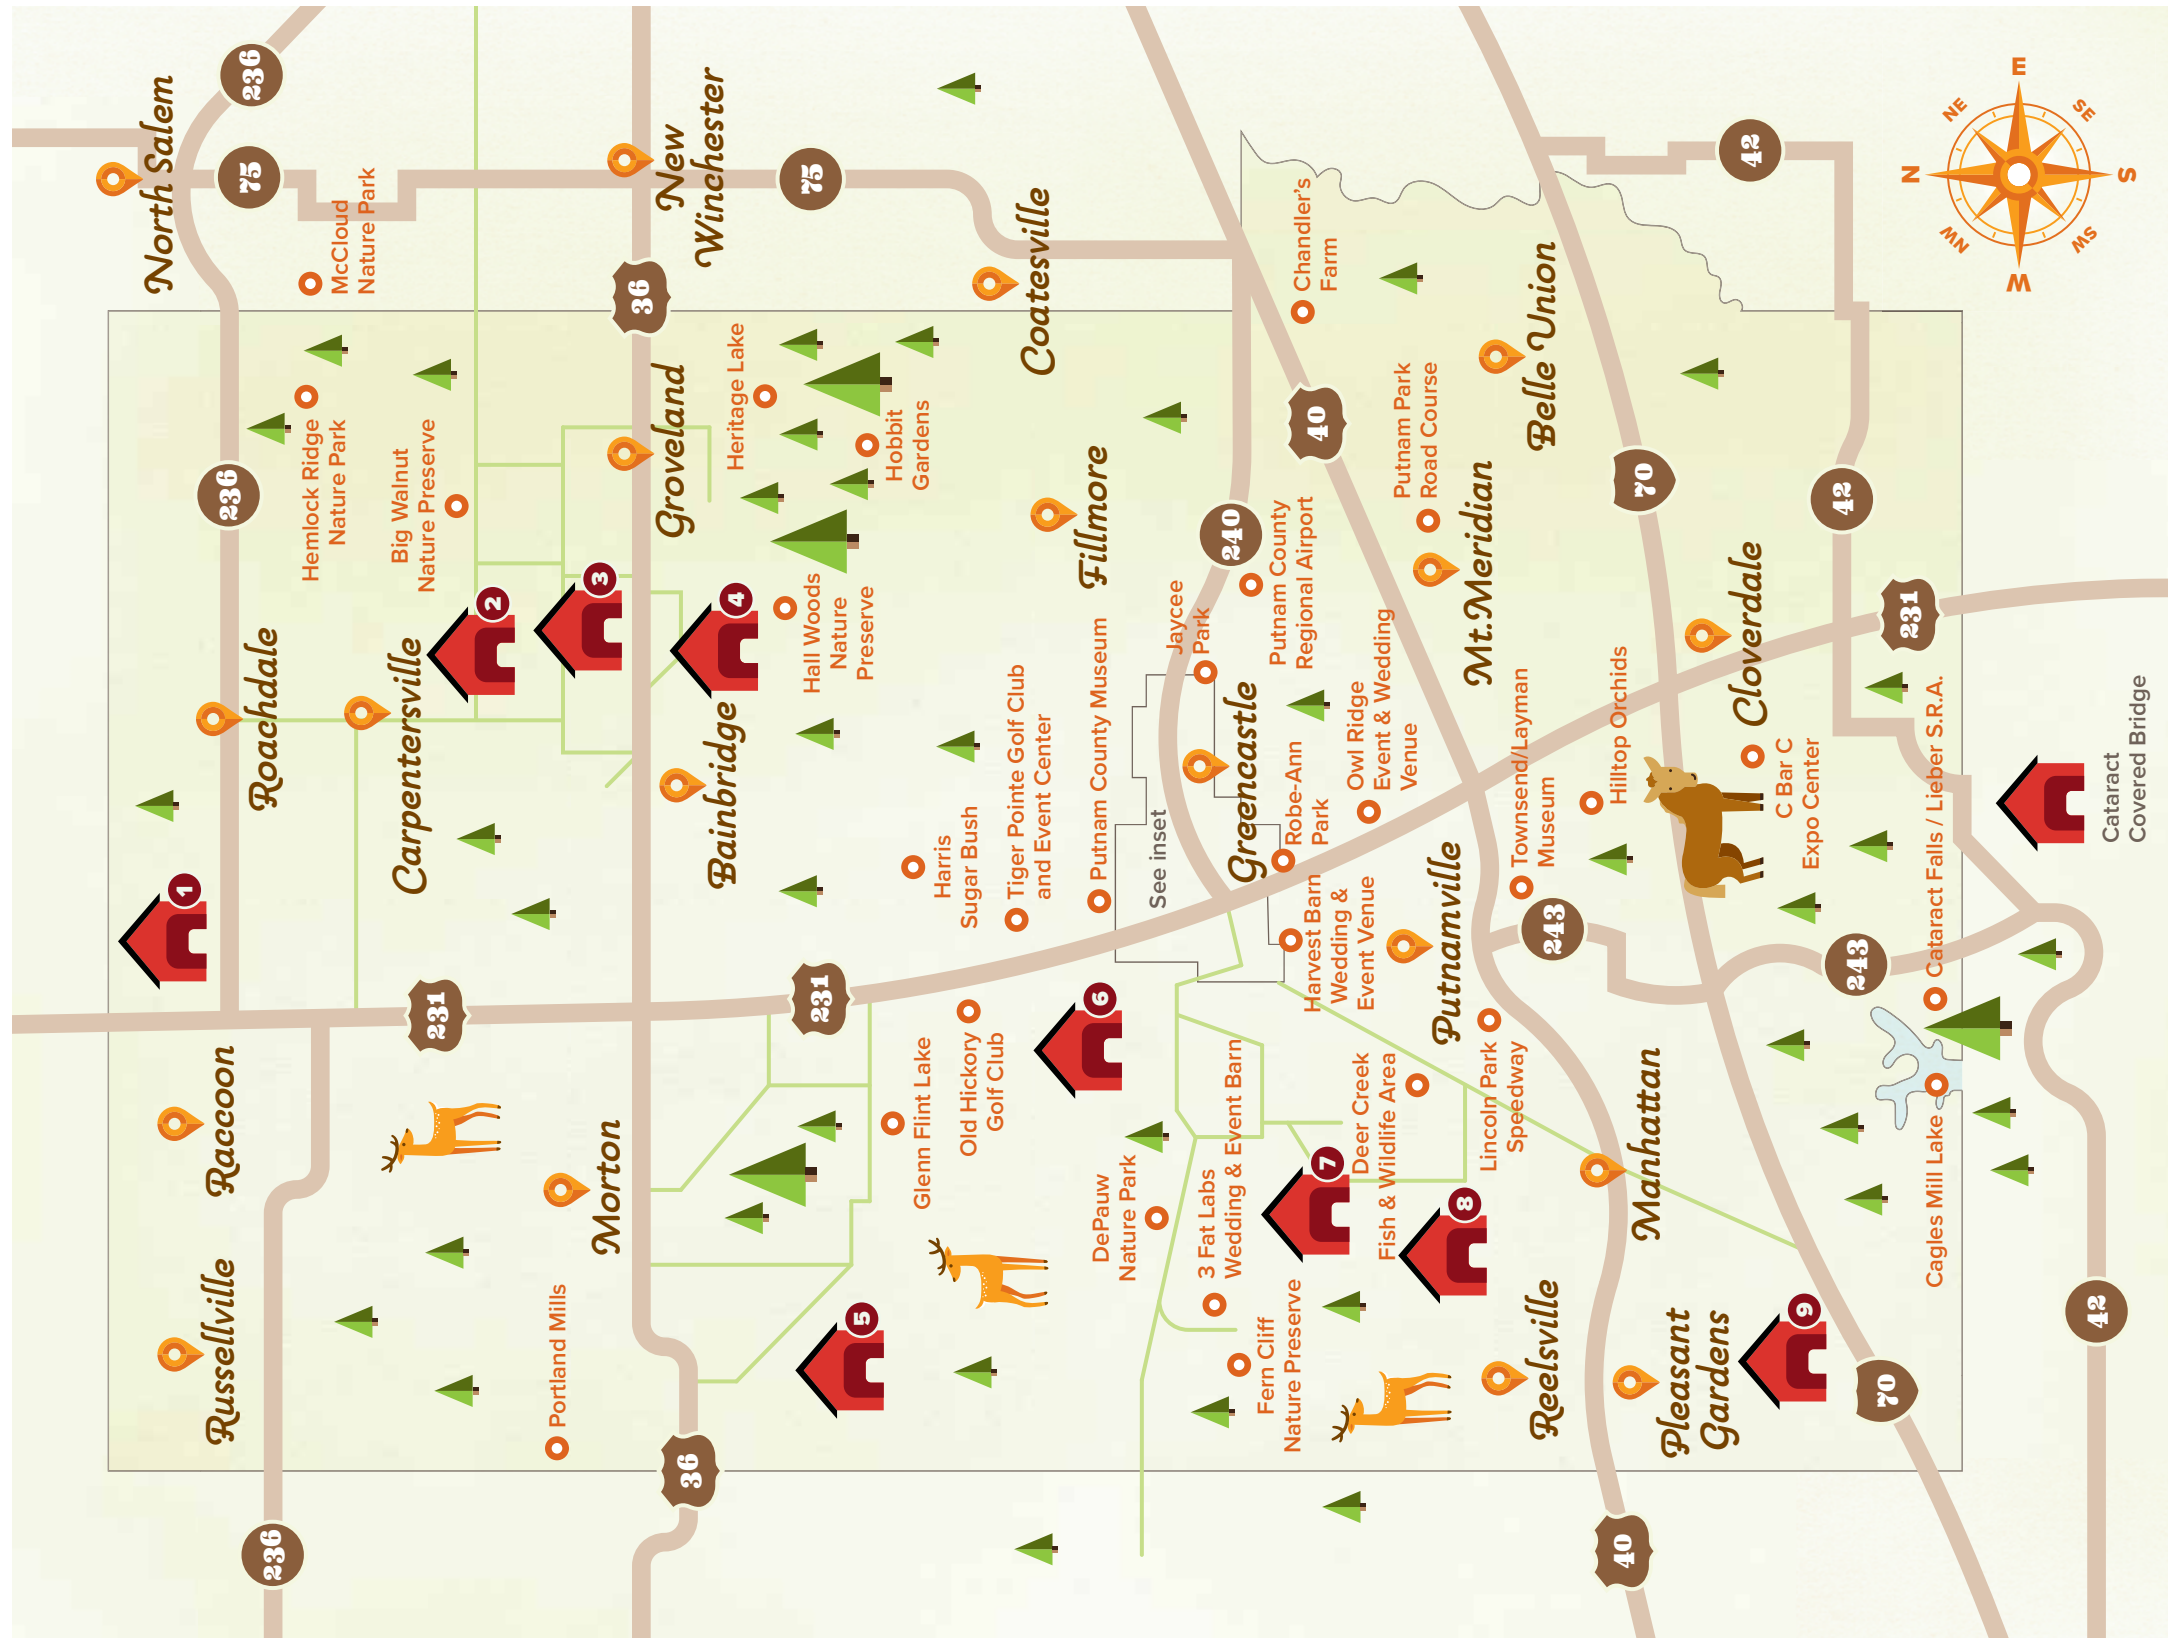

Krambo's Motorcycle Service and Painting, maker of custom-built bikes and offering a wide assortment of accessories, is best known for high quality painting and award-winning shines. With awards from Easy Rider and International Motor Show (IMS), owner Chris Krampe and his staff have nearly 100 years of combined experience and certifications from Harley U. They are Techno research certified to tune bikes and reset Harley controls, trained in maintenance, electrical and fuel systems with certificates from ICAR, Martin Senior Paint School, PPG, and more.

Every Saturday night, April through September, the track at Lincoln Park Speedway features Super Stocks, UMP Modifieds and Bombers from around the U.S. The 5/16-mile dirt track has built a more-than-50-year reputation for being one of the most competitive in the Midwest, and the often-full seating for 6,000 fans is proof.

PUTNAM PARK ROAD COURSE

Put it "past" you in these historic covered bridges!

BAKER'S CAMP BRIDGE

Nine historic covered bridges make the Putnam County countryside both educational and relaxing, and our Parke County neighbor offers 31 more. Uniquely beautiful in spring and fall, traveling the bridges is particularly fun for motorcycle and bike riders. The road now winds around, not through, Houck Bridge, which offers parking, a great view of the hilltop cemetery where Daniel Boone's brother and family rest and the peaceful flow of Big Walnut Creek.

Five covered bridges facilitate northern Putnam County "traffic." The single-span

1. Cornstalk Bridge was built in 1917 and gets its name from the creek it crosses.

2. The Pine Bluff, 3. Rolling Stone and

4. Baker's Camp bridges are within 10 minutes of each other. Pine Bluff is a Howe Truss bridge built in 1886. Baker's Camp, built in 1901, is 128' long with a 10' overhang at each end. Rolling Stone's name came from a boulder in Big Walnut Creek, which it spans. Built in 1915, it's the shortest at 13' high.

5. Edna Collings Bridge is the "newest" of the nine, built by Charles Collings in 1922. Local lore claims it's haunted. The Burr Arch bridge over Little Walnut Creek is also the shortest at 80' long.

The 6. Dunbar and 7. Oakalla bridges are in the center of the county. Dunbar, a Burr Arch, two-span bridge, is one of the three oldest, built in 1880 by farmers with timber cut on the Dunbar farm. Oakalla, built in 1898, gets its name from the former Oakalla Station along the old Big Four Railroad.

In southwest Putnam County are the 8. Houck and 9. Dick Huffman bridges, two of the three oldest that were built in 1880. Houck takes its name from the owner of the surrounding land. A Howe Truss, two-span bridge, it ties with the tallest at 15' high. The Dick Huffman Bridge was called the Wekly Bridge when it was built, taking its name from the nearby Wekly Mill along Mill Creek. Covering 265', this two-span bridge is Putnam County's longest.
